

Harvest Volatility Management, LLC
Form ADV Part 3 (“Form CRS”)
March 21, 2022

Item 1: Introduction

Harvest Volatility Management, LLC (“Harvest”) is an investment adviser registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at www.investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

Item 2: Relationships and Services

What Investment Services and Advice Can You Provide Me?

Harvest provides investment advisory services on a discretionary basis to retail investors, which include individuals and families who seek investment services primarily for personal or family purposes, with a particular focus on high net worth individuals and families. Harvest provides investment advisory services based on the specific investment objectives and strategies that are set forth in your investment management agreement. Harvest generally neither provides investment advice, nor accepts investment restrictions, based on the individual objectives of investors.

Harvest reviews your account and portfolio on an ongoing basis to determine whether securities positions should be maintained in view of current market conditions. This review is carried out by the portfolio managers and/or Harvest’s investment personnel. Unless otherwise agreed to by you and Harvest, you receive monthly reports from your custodian describing investments in your account, summarizing that period’s activities and comparing the market value of the securities in your account for that period with your account’s performance for prior periods. Additionally, Harvest prepares a daily statement and makes such statement available to you upon request. Harvest has complete discretion with respect to allowing any prospective investor to open an advisory account.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION about our advisory services, please see Items 4, 7, and 13 of our Form ADV Part 2A Firm Brochure.

CONVERSATION STARTERS:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

Item 3: Fees, Costs, Conflicts, and Standard of Conduct

What Fees Will I Pay?

Retail investors will generally pay us an annual management fee ranging from 0.25% to 0.85% based on either the daily notional account value, mandate size, net asset value or daily/monthly fair market value of the assets in your account (including margin release, net unrealized appreciation or depreciation of investments and cash, cash equivalents and accrued interest) depending on the relevant strategy and terms of your investment management agreement. These fees are charged each month or quarter in advance or in arrears depending on the particular strategy and your investment management agreement. When management fees are charged in advance, you will receive a refund of the unused portion of any pre-paid management fees. In some situations we may receive performance-based compensation on net profits attributable to your account, to the extent agreed upon by you and Harvest.

Our clients generally pay a fixed asset-based management fee and may be subject to a performance-based fee. Such fees may create conflicts of interest because the more assets there are in your advisory account, the more you will pay in fees. Thus, Harvest may have an incentive to encourage a retail investor to increase the assets in his or her account and to favor those clients that pay Harvest higher fees. Harvest has adopted and implemented policies and procedures intended to address conflicts of interest relating to the management of multiple accounts, including accounts with different fee arrangements.

In addition to paying investment management fees and any applicable performance-based fees, other fees and costs related to Harvest's management of your account will include transaction-based fees when we buy or sell an investment for you (e.g., applicable commissions paid to broker-dealers for buying or selling investments). You may also experience fees, including margin expenses, paid to a broker-dealer or bank that holds your assets. You may be part of a "wrap fee" program and subject to asset-based transaction fees, in which you are typically charged a minimum fee per month, instead of paying brokerage commissions. Harvest is not a sponsor of any wrap fee program. If you are part of a "wrap fee" program, you should consult with your program sponsor for details on fees and expenses applicable to your account.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION about our fees and costs, please see Items 5 and 12 of our Form ADV Part 2A Firm Brochure.

CONVERSATION STARTER: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you.

CONVERSATION STARTER: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?"

How do your financial professionals make money?

Harvest's financial professionals receive cash compensation.
